

Returning For My Brother

A Spiritual Healing Workshop for Veterans

FINDING FREEDOM
AFTER WAR:
SAVE A LIFE – SAVE A FAMILY

If you are a veteran or know someone who is, this workshop may open the door for you to find a path to heal yourself and move from experiencing the dark inner enemy to the freedom and Inner Light of your Spirit.

We will help identify a path to recovery for you and your family. This retreat introduces spiritual healing as a means to transform rage, depression & stress to hope, and hope to peace and love.

Your journey of transformation includes spiritual healing and modalities such as acupuncture and massage. You will learn skills to take home including the practice of Remembrance, healing herbs & self-expression through writing and art.

Your team of experienced professional healers and teachers includes

Robert Driscoll, MSM, Vietnam veteran and author of Returning For My Brother. The book relates his journey from being diagnosed and living with PTSD, culminating in finding freedom through spiritual healing.

Salima Adelstein, M.Ed., D.D., is department head of Spiritual Ministry and Sufi Studies at the University of Spiritual Healing & Sufism. She is a master healer who teaches nationally and internationally, and has helped hundreds heal from illness and lifelong emotional pain.
